

Dr. MADHURI T.
Designation: Assistant Professor
email: rmadhuri@lbc.edu.in

Dr. Madhuri T. serves as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Botany at Dr. Lankapalli Bullayya College, Visakhapatnam. She completed both her Doctorate and Master of Science in Botany with first-division honours from Andhra University. With more than 17 years of teaching experience, Dr. Madhuri is recognised for her dedication to fostering students' academic growth.

Dr. Madhuri is committed to supporting students beyond the classroom, efficiently guiding them through project work and internships. Her mentorship helps students navigate practical experiences, connecting theoretical knowledge with real-world applications in Botany. Her guidance is aimed at not only improving students' understanding but also building skills that are crucial for their future academic and professional pursuits.

She actively engages in national seminars, where she contributes her insights and presents her work. Dr. Madhuri has presented papers at various seminars and workshops, enriching her academic community with her findings. She has also published two research papers in international journals, showcasing her dedication to advancing research and sharing knowledge within the field of botany.