Women's day celebration - It's a day to honor the progress that the women staff of the college has achieved and recognize the ongoing work that still needs to be done to achieve true parity.

Many events were conducted by the organizing committee followed with dance performances by the women staff. Best out of waste was another event wherein the staff and girl students of the college participated and displayed their talent, creativity and their environmental consciousness.

This special event not only promoted recycling and upcycling but also inspired innovative thinking and resourcefulness.

Celebrating International Women's day is not just about a single day of festivities but about fostering a culture of respect and appreciation.
